

Bryce Hall got into a fight

Tik Tok star Bryce Hall involved in a huge brawl caught on video

Tik Tok star Bryce Hall and some members of the sway boys ganged up on a dude and delivered a beat down so bad the cops were called, but somehow they all made up in the end. The violence broke out when Bryce and fellow sway members Jordan Rodriguez, Josh Richards, Nick Bean, and Jaden Hossler all got dragged into a scuffle with an unknown man outside of Mel's diner on sunset. The brawl shows Bryce- who had his power turned off after a massive party during quarantine- in red shorts trying to break up the fight as is Jordan.

Josh and Jaden are the ones throwing punches in the video claiming self-defence after Nick got punched in the face. The brawl was the group's response to Nick getting socked. You can also here someone hurling homophobic slurs at least 3 times- I also heard that Nick, who according to witnesses, seemed pretty drunk and out of control. Also heard that what triggered this was Nick allegedly putting a cone under the car of the unknown man.. who then confronted the sway boys and all hell broke loose. For his part, Bryce says, "We don't condone violence, but if u punch someone in front of us, we'll have no choice but to defend ourselves."

Cops ultimately showed up to the scene and talked to the guy who got beat up, but they said no one involved wanted to press charges or cooperate. At the end of one of the videos taking of the fight you see some of the Sway Boys shaking hands with the guy. No harm, no foul.
